PRIVATE SECURITY

The Pipkin Detective Agency, (PDA), introduced their newest member to the PDA family, Western Executive Protection in January of 2010. Western Executive Protection is a premier security company managed by former Visalia Police Department Sergeant David Jarrett. Western Executive Protection has already been credited with the arrest of several criminal gang members involved in local commercial burglaries and their executive protection division has successfully protected numerous high profile political and business individuals. Western Executive Protection was recently awarded a contract with a local law enforcement agency to guard incarcerated inmates who require over-night hospital treatment, thereby freeing law enforcement personnel to better utilize their officer resources within the community. PDA works hand-and-hand with local, state and federal law enforcement agencies.

PDA President Rocky Pipkin recently announced the 2011 expansion of their security and protection services by offering the most technologically advanced Security Patrol Service to the Central Valley. Western's patrol vehicles are equipped with GPS units for faster response and on-board digital video recorders capable of streaming real time video directly to dispatchers and law enforcement and these vehicles are being outfitted with license plate readers designed to identify and alert DMV and law enforcement of stolen vehicles and vehicles on repossession lists.

Western's new Security Patrol is offering many more technologically advanced security and protection features on their vehicles, such as Forward Looking Infrared (FLIR), that locates body heat generation to assist in locating hidden subjects as well as improving vision through fog and clouds. Our specialized service vehicles are applicable in many environments to suit all of your needs. Remember Western Executive Protection when security matters!
